Texas Cotton Acreage Reported Down Third

WASHINGTON, July 10.—(AP)—Texas had 7,200,000 acres of cotton in cultivation on July 1, the Agriculture Department reported today.

This was about 34 per cent less than the total acreage under cultivation for the same period last season.

The department said the total on July 1 for the nation was 19,032,000 acres. This was 31.3 per cent smaller than a year ago.

No forecast of production was given. But if the yield to the acre equals the 1939-48 average of about 250 pounds, production would be about 9,506,000 bales of 500 pounds weight. Production last yearw as 16,127,000 bales, the fourth largest of record.

This year's crop is being produced under a rigid production control and marketing quota program designed to hold production to not more than 12,000,000 bales.

Should the acreage yield equal last year's over-average figure of 284 pounds, production this year would be about 10,316,000 bales.

Production for the 10-year average is 11,306,000 bales. The first estimate of this year's production will be given Aug. 8.

The acreage on July 1, last year, was 27,719,000.

Not all the July 1 acreage is expected to be harvested. During the

Cotton Prices Jump $10 Limit After Estimate

NEW YORK, July 10.—(AP)—Cotton prices jumped as much as $10 a bale today on the New York cotton exchange after the government estimated this year's cotton acreage nearly one third lower than last.

Traders surprised by the low figure, quickly bid up cotton for delivery in all months except October and December of 1951 for the $10 limit permitted in any one day.

Coupled with the cut in acreage was the belief that the Korean war would mean a greater demand for cotton.

The Bureau of Agricultural Economics estimated 19,032,000 acres of cotton in cultivation the first of this month. Last year's acreage was 27,719,000 acres, and the average 1939-1948 acreage as of July I was 21,859,000.

The bid-up on the exchange brought cotton for delivery this October to 33.35 cents a pound.

NEW UNIT ALERTED

SAN ANTONIO, July 10.—(AP)—A second Fourth Army combat unit has been alerted for immediate transfer to the Far East command. Lt. Gen Elroy Lutes, the Fourth's commander, made the announcement. He would not say what type unit it was or the number of men involved. Previously the command had announced that an antiaircraft unit had been alerted for movement.

Richland Man Is County's 10th Victim Of Polio

Navarro county's tenth polio case of the 1950 season, a 22-year-old man from Richland, Charles E. Davis, was admitted to a Waco hospital Saturday. Davis was referred to the Waco hospital by Dr. E. H. Newton, Corsicana.

Five of the county's polio cases haev been reported from the Kerens' area, three from Corsicana, one from near Frost and one from Richland.

Big Chain Units Advance Prices On Bread, Meat

NEW YORK, July 10—(AP)—Retail bread and meat prices went up in New York today.

Continental Baking Co. and the Gordon Baking Co. hiked the price of a loaf of bread a penny a loaf to 17 cents.

The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co. announced increases in the retail price of meat ranging from one to four cents a pound. The new price of sirloin steak, for instance, is 97 cents a pound.

H. C. Bohack Co. and the Grand Union Co. said they would make similar changes in their price list.

Spokesmen for the large chains said heavy consumer demand for meat continued despite recent increases.

The bakery firms gave no explanation for the hike in bread prices.

Giant Bank Heads Are Convicted On Contempt Charges

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10.—(AP)—The United States circuit court of appeals today convicted Bank of America and Transamerica, Inc., and the presidents of the two corporations of civil contempt for their disregard of an order restraining acquisition of 22 more California banks.

The individual defendants were L. M. Giannini, president of Bank of America, and Sam Husbands, president of Transamerica.

The court ordered the 22 banks be returned within 30 days to the status they held prior to July 3. Failing that, the court said Giannini and Husbands would go to jail until the order is complied with and the corporations will be fined $2,500 each for every day of noncompliance.

ALL KOREAN TARGETS DUE MORE BLASTS

Gen. Stratemeyer Praises Jets For Low-Level Results

TOKYO, July 10.—(AP)—Lt. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer said today "the great effort of our ground forces, the Navy and the Far East Air Forces" has stopped the North Koeans.

The Far East Air Force's (FEAF) commander said no targets beyond Communist North Korea would be bombed. But, he added, all military targets within that boundary will be attacked around the clock.

Stratemeyer said his airmen had destroyed or damaged 41 Communist planes and knocked out 123 Korean tanks in 15 days. Allied losses he said were 20 combat planes and five transports. Not included in lost combat planes was one Australian warplane.

Nine American airmen have been killed, five wounded and 12 are missing, the general said in an interview. Transport plane and crew losses were not included in the tabulations.)

Attrition bombing is being felt by the Korean Reds, Stratemeyer said, adding "vital supplies such as gasoline and ammunition are known to be short and becoming short in many localities."

Giver a break in the weather, he went on, an increased FEAF

200 Are Dead And 17,000 Homeless After 5 Quakes

BOGOTA, Colombia, July 10.—(AP)—Unofficial reports today indicated 211 persons are dead and 17,000 injured or homeless in seven towns after five earthquakes that rocked North Central Colombia over the weekend.

The presidential palace in a statement Sunday night indicated the official death toll was at least 123.

The new figures were given in the newspaper El Siglo.

El Tiempo said the number of dead reached 200, with 500 injured and the homeless 40,000. El Siglo estimates the material damage at 6,000,000 pesos, while El Tiempo said the damages amount to about 40,000,000 pesos.

Both papers said the Arboleda, a town of 20,000 was almost destroyed and that Cucutilla, of about 14,000 inhabitants, also was almost destroyed. Electric power failed after the shocks and the towns were in darkness which contributed to the panic among the inhabitants. Another town, Salazar, De Las Palmas, population about 21,000, was also severely hit.

The government rushed troops, police forces, and doctors, food, drugs and tents to the affected towns.

Other towns affected were: Barrientos, Queberada Honda, Monte Cristo and San Jose De Avila. Among those where the shocks were also strong, were Mutizcua and Toledo, where two churches were levelled.

Cucuta, Durania and Toledo also felt the shocks.

More Military Spending Is Indicated

Army Now Dipping Into Mobile Forces

WASHINGTON, July 10.—(AP)—Chiefs of Staffs of the U. S. Army and Air Force will leave Washington tonight for Tokyo, the Defense Department announced today.

WASHINGTON, July 10—(AP)—The army has started dipping into the small five-division mobile force stationed in the United States to hasten help for American forces rocked by an onrushing North Korean army.

The decision to order the 2nd Infantry Division and an unspecified number of smaller units from other organizations to the Far East came less than two weeks after the United States had stepped into the Korean conflict to assist South Korea in repelling the invaders from the North.

It was indicative of how the timetable has quickened as unhappy reports came into the Pentagon from the front.

And it intensified today the manpower problems confronting the military, sharpening questions about the current volunteer effort, whether the draft would have to be used, whether the National Guard eventually would be moved into the picture.

The so-called "mobile striking force" was created for the purpose to which the 2nd Division and the other units are now being applied—deployment to any area where an emergency occurs. Pared down from original plans, it consists of the five divisions, plus the units needed to enable the combat divisions to fight. The divisions are these:

The 2nd Infantry, based at Ft. Lewis, Wash.; the 82nd Airborne, based at Ft. Bragg, N. C.; the 11th

20,000 Draftees Requested

WASHINGTON, July 10.—(AP)—The Defense department today asked for 20,000 draftees "at the earliest possible date," for the Army.

In a statement, the department said that the draft call is required to meet manpower needs.

"No other recourse is presently available," the department said.

Shortly before the announcement, Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey had estimated at a news conference that it would take Selective Service 60 days to start delivering men, once drafting has begun. But he said he believed it could furnish as many as 300,000 within 90 days if necessary.

Hershey, director of Selective Service, held the conference to answer some of the questions being asked about the draft since President Truman last week authorized its use if necessary to bring armed services to desired strength.

Hershey said Selective Service will start with the 25-year-olds and go down the line when it got a call for men. (Only men aged 19 to 25 inclusive can be drafted under present law.)

Hershey said there were not many men who could be obtained from the 25 and 24 age brackets because many exempted veterans of the last war were in those groups.

He said when you get down to age 23, you begin to get into the group that didn't fight in the war.

Asked whether he thought 300,000 men could be gotten from the 23 bracket, Hershey said he didn't know but thought that number could be found in the 23 and 22 brackets.

Those estimates would mean Selective Service could call up 300,000 men without dipping into the pool of men under age 22.

Census Fails To Settle Feud Of NewYork, London

NEW YORK, July 10.—(AP)—Which is bigger—New York or London?

It all depends on how you look at it.

The 1950 census might have settled the argument once for all, but it didn't.

London—that is, Greater London—claims 8,203,942 people. The city itself has about 4,000,000.

The new census figures give New York 7,841,610, or about 400,000 short of the London total.

But....London counts its entire Metropolitan area, while New York just counts the noses inside the city limits. If New York totaled up its Metropolitan area it would zoom ahead of Londan with the whopping figure of 15,540,697.

The New York Metropalitan area includes the big city itself, plus four New York and eight New Jersey counties.

Visiting Scouts Entertained In Corsicana Monday

Even though a light rain was falling when they arrived, the spirits of the 436 Boy Scouts who arrived in Corsicana Monday about 12:55 p. m. weren't dampened by weather.

The Scouts, their leaders and train personnel marched from the Rock Island depot to the Southland Cotton Oil Co. where they ate a boxed barbecue dinner.

Following the meal, they were escorted through the oil mill and then made an inspection tour of the Corsicana Cotton Mills. They boarded their train two hours after they arrived and started on the trip to the west coast.

A. H. Bonner, who prepared he barbecue brought 462 boxes to the noon meal. There were none left.

The entire group went through the chow line in about eight minutes and 14 minutes after the first lunch and soft drink was handed out the Scouts were lining up to go through the oil mill.

Asked how they liked the barbecue, one Scout said, "Fine now that I've found out what to do with it." He'd made a huge sandwich out of his beef and bread.

The boxed lunch incluided barbecued beef, potato chips, baked

Refugees From Communist East Reich Prove Cohesive Force In Sunday Vote

KIEL, Germany, July 10.—(AP)—The German refugees from Communist Eastern Europe who showed themselves Sunday to be a strong potential political force in West Germany today began an ambitious program.

In parliamentary voting Sunday they got nearly a quarter of the vote in the Schliswig-Holstein elections and won 16 of the state parliament's 69 seats. There were 1,341,754 votes cast.

It was the first time West Germany's 10,000,000 refugees had an opportunity for concerted action. They showed they could be a cohesive force.

Nearly 1,000,000 of them live—many in squalor—in this little North German state. West German observers watched their first test at the polls as an indication of the future.

Today Waldeman Kraft, first chairman of the refugee party (BHE), outlined a brief initial program.

Kraft declared that one of the first moves would be to organize the refugee party on a West German Federal Republic level.

This done, he said, the refugees would demand dissolution of the current federal parliament and new elections in wihch the refugee party would take an active part.

No complete party platform has been formally outlinedw by the refugees, but their pre-election campaigning stressed these things:

1. Immediate equal shoring of the war burden in West Germany. The West German parliament is contemplating a law which would distribute the burden among persons financially able to bear it.

2. Quick creation of Jobs for the hundreds of thousands of unemployed refugees.

3. A broad resettlement program to re-locate refugees into states which do not now have a concentrated population of refugees.

4. Recognition of official rights (such as pensions) for those refugees who held public office before

Byrd Is Heading Economy Drive With GOP Support

WASHINGTON, July 10—(AP)—House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) said after a White House conference of congressional leaders today that there is a "probability" more military appropriations will be asked because of the Korean fighting.

Rayburn told reporters that President Truman did not say he would need more defense money.

"But I think it is a probability," Rayburn added.

He said he was confident congress would vote whatever funds were needed.

At the Pentagon, meantime, military men said the United States now has enough men and equipment in Korea to slow the Communist advance, but that no one should expect an immediate turn in the tide of battle.

The tone of the Pentagon forenoon "briefing" for newsmen was generally of caution against overoptimism as a result of the weekend's heavy air strikes and other successes against the North Koreans.

A pokesman said American forces had done "a remarkable job" of building up men and equipment in Korea. But he indicated that U. S. ground troops in Korea might still have to trade space for time.

Any request from President Truman for more military appropriations might mean the end of the pending bill to cut excise taxes by over a billion dollars.

Some influential congress members already have taken a "go slow" attitude on tax cuts in view of the international situation.

Senator Byrd (D-Va) ras also begun a drive to cut domestic spending in anticipation that mil-

NAM Attacking House-Approved Tax Cut Measure

WASHINGTON, July 10.—(AP)—The National Association of Manufacturers (NAM) spoke out today against the House-passed bill to cut excise taxes, saying no tax bill at all would be better than that one.

In testimony prepared for the Senate finance committee, the organization listed several objections to the House measure, which would reduce the so-called luxury taxes by $1,010,000,000.

The NAM's main criticism was leveled at a provision intended to help make up the revenue loss to the government, by boosting taxes on large corporations.

Charles R. Sligh, Jr., head of the NAM's taxation committee, called that provision "progressive taxation" and said it would "destroy the business structure which is the basis of our prosperity and national strength." Sligh added:

"Karl Marx, the father of Communism, proposed heavy graduated income taxes as an effective way to Communize an advanced capitalist economy."

Dangers To Oil Industry Cited In New Tax Bill

WASHINGTON, July 10—(AP)—Spokesmen for the oil industry told the senate finance committee today that one provision of the house-passed tax bill would cause immediate and drastic curtailment in oil leasing and exploratory activities.

They said this house bill, classifying property used in trade or business as capital assets, would prevent charge-offs of abandonment losses for tax purposes except to the extent of capital gains, if any.

Guy H. Woodward, speaking for Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association, testified that this provison might result in the payment of taxes on income that did not exist. He illustrated:

"Assume a corporation buys lease acreage and drills an exploratory well in which it has invested a million dollars, but the venture proves dry and is abandoned.

"Assume that this corporation has a milion dollar net income from other properties. Unless the million dollar loss may be charged against the million dollar ordinary income, the result would be to collect from this business enterprise $410,000 income tax, as provided by the proposed bill, a theoretical income.

"Actually this business made no

Enlistment Rush Is Reported On Over All Nation

By The Associated Press

A rush of applicants for military service hit New York City recruiting offices today.

Army and Air Force authorities said the number seeking to enlist was the greatest since World War II.

Similar upswings in recruiting were reported in other cities across the nation—presumably the result of the war in Korea. Resumption of the draft also was cited as a cause of the trend.

In Atlanta, the number seeking to join the Navy was reported up 100 per cent.

"We have all the recruits this office can handle at this time," a Navy spokesman there said.

In Kansas City, Marine Corps enlistments were reported tripled in the last 10 days, although Army and Air Force volunteers were said to be normal.

A Navy spokesman in Los Angeles said: "We're swamped. We had 30 enlistments a week a month ago. Now we have 30 a day."

A flood of inquiries was reported at recruiting offices in Dallas and Chicago, but actual enlistments were described as normal.

13-Inch Rainfall Forces People From Their Homes

CRETE, Nebr., uly 10.—(AP)—Floodwaters that already have claimed the lives of five Nebraskans and caused damage likely to run into the millions charged down the big Blue River today forcing wholesale evacuations.

Ambhibious craft which plied through flood waters at York, Neb., Sunday evacuating persons trapped by a flash flood born of a torrential 13-inch downpour, which shifted to Crete today where most of the north part of town was under four to six feet of water.

Five persons drowned when their car was swept off a highway by a flash flood about 14 miles north of Fullerton, Neb.

The heaviest rainfall in Kansas centered around Abilene where 5.81 inches were reported in three hours Sunday morning. It caused the worst flooding there in 25 years. One-fourth of the town was flooded, including some of the business district. The Union Pacific Railroad tracks east and west of town were washed out.

McCormick Gets New Farm Post

WASHINGTON, July 10.—(AP)—President Truman today nominated Clarence J. McCormick of Indiana to be undersecretary of agroculture. McCormick is president of the Knox County Farm Bureau and is a member of the board of directors of the Indiana Farm Bureau.

The National Farm Bureau Federation has been a sharp critic of the controversial farm plan advicated by Secretary of Agriculture Brannan. McCormick's attitude toward the Brannan plan was not known to sources immediately reachable here.

TAEJON NOW THREATENED RED FORCES

'Lost Battalion' Rejoins Regiment, Ready For Action

TOKYO, Tuesday, July 11.—(AP)—Northern Communist troops battled to within 20 air miles of Taejon, South Korea's temporary capital, early today after a "lost" U. S. battalion had fought its way out of a trap and the first American victims of Red atrocity were found.

Bound and shot in the face, the bodies of seven American soldiers were found in a see-saw battle area Monday. They were not members of the "lost" battalion, which has rejoined its regiment and is ready for action.

They were found by Lt. D. C. Gates of Texas, who identified four of them as his ammunition carriers. They were seen trapped and surrendering to two Red tanks a short time earlier.

General MacArthur in his 12:02 a. m. (8:02 a. m. CST Monday) communique told of the new North Korean advances. He said the strike was made by the North Korean first division, which had hemmed in in the unidentified "lost" battalion for two days before it slugged its way free.

General Macrthur's communique said the Communist First Division, which trapped the "lost" battalion for two days, has advanced on south from Chonan to Chonogan, a tiny village 18 miles by road south of Chonana and 25 miles by air northwest of Taejon.

The communique said another force, probably the enemy Third Division, was in contact with American forces at Cochiwon, 15 miles southeast of Chonan and 20 miles by air across the country northwest of Taejon.

Young GI's Are Found Shot With Their Hands Tied

ADVANCED AMERICAN HEADQUARTERS IN KOREA, July 10.—(AP)—The bodies of seven American soldiers, their hands tied behind them, were found by the roadside in territory recaptured from the Communist North Koreans today.

Each had been killed by a bullet in the face.

The bodies were found by Lt. D. C. Gates of Joinerville, Texas, who said he found the Americans this afternoon after four of them had gone at 9:30 a. m. (5:30 p. m. CST Sunday) to a front line area subsequently lost and regained.

"They turned a corner and ran into two tanks," he said.

One jeep turned around and made a dash for it, Gates said. The driver was killed but his companions escaped.

"An observation post saw two in each of two other jeeps surrender," Gates said. "When I arrived on the spot I found my four men and three mortar men, their hands tied behind them and a bullet fired in each face."

Gates said the Americans had been assigned to move ammunition forward.

He said Americans and North Korean troops still were fighting over possession of the area where the atrocities accurred at the time he left to make his report to nearby American headquarters.

General MacArthur, United Nations commander in Korea, warned last week that atrocity perpetrators would be punished if caught. He promised humane

No Question About Who Started War In Korea, Ambassador Jessup Asserts

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., July 10.— (AP) —Ambassador-at-Large Philip C. Jessup declared today there can never be any serious question about who started the Korean war.

Despite the "flood of lies" which has poured from the Communists, he said, the record proves that they were the aggressors.

"The North Korean Communist forces attacked the Republic of Korea without warning, without provocation, without any justification whatsoever," Jessup declared. "It has never been more true than in this case that actions speak louder than words.

"Communist peace propaganda has sought to lull the peoples of the free world at the very moment when Communist imperialism was preparing and launching this war of aggression."

Jessup discussed the Korean situation in a talk prepared for the 17th session of the Institute of Public Affairs at the University of Virginia.

He called the attack on Korea "the most bare-faced attack on the United Nations itself," recalling that the UN had helped to set up the South Korean government.

"An assault upon the United Nations headquarters at Lake Success could hardly have been more direct or more revealing," Jessup said.

On another aspect of Communist propaganda, he declared it is common practice for the Reds to accuse others "of the sins which

Giant Ford Union Votes To Require Anti-Communist Oaths Of Officials

DETROIT, July 10—(AP)—Ford Local 600, giant of the CIO United Auto Workers union (CIO), will requare its 550 officials to sign anti-Communist pledges.

The general council of the 60,000 member local voted Sunday 75 to 63, to establish the pledge requirement. It gave the local's officials until August 1 to sign the pledges, on penalty of possible ouster.

The action is the first such on record for any UAW local. It was made as part of a general policy of support of President Truman for his action in Korea, and condemnation of the Soviet Union.

The measure, proposed by Carl Stellato, newly-elected local president, met with bitter opposition. One opponent warned that it would set the pattern for loyalty pledges from all industrial workers.

"This will be called witch-hunting," Stellato said. "But how can that charge be justified when American soldiers are being killed in Korea?"

The pledge reads:

"I hereby pledge that I owe allegiance to the government of the United States and no other.

"I suporpt the policy of the CIO as that policy may be determined by majority opinion within my union.

"I further state that I am not a member of the Communist party, Fascist party, or Ku Klux Klan, nor do I support the policy and the program of Soviet Russia and its satellite nations, nor will I distribute leaflets or other forms of literature or petitions in favor of such policy or program."

CORSICANA, TEX., JULY 11, 1950

THE LINE IS DRAWN

It has often been argued that, in order to clarify relations between the United States and the Communist nations, a line should be drawn over which the Communists would not be permitted to step, and which would be defended with whatever force might be required. There also have been sound arguments against the idea, not the least of which has been the difficulty of locating the line. Now, for better or worse, the line has been drawn. For that is the effect of the order authorizing the Army, Air Force and the Navy to participate in the defense of South Korea.

This step in Korea is a declaration that the aggressions of the Communists against non-Communist nations will not be allowed to take the form of overt military action across national boundaries. Actually this line coincides with the policy laid down in Berlin earlier in the year, with respect to the plan to send Communist youth storming into the western sectors of that city. The American stand was not tested in Berlin; perhaps it was decided to make the test in Korea instead.

Our course in Korea is not without risk. But is it in direct and declared support of an action of the United Nation. Russia might send active help to the Reds in North Korea, and so come to grips with Americans helping in the defense of the republic, but Russia could not do that except in open defiance of the United Nations and assault against it. To Russia is left the choice between open warfare and compliance with international authority. Here, at long last, we have seized the initiative in the cold war.

SAFER TRIPS

On rural highways, as in crowded city streets, ignorance of the traffic laws is not a valid excuse for breaking them. The National Safety Council points out that tourists about to travel through several states should familiarize themselves with the traffic laws of each, and take pains to observe them.

Speed limits, passing rules hand signals, traffic signs and highway markers differ in different parts of the country. They shouldn't, but they do. Winding highways and those which are not lighted at night demand special care in driving, though no regulation may specify this. Motorists should try not to drive beyond the point of fatigue, and do moderate their speed toward the end of the day. That's the good advice of those who have made a study of accidents and their causes.

A relaxed attitude, with no definite daily mileage scheduled, plenty of stops for viewing spots and for leg-stretching, and late afternoon pulling in for the day, all add up to a safe and pleasant vacation.

YOUR SECURITY

Businessmen of this community will be asked soon for a "vote of confidence" in nationay security—the National Guard.

Corsicana has three National Guard companies. They stand ready—in peacetime and in war—to protect the citizenry in time of emergency. But their efficiency depends on adequate training.

The annual Texas National Guard camp is slated for August 30 at North Fort Hood. This annual training program constitutes more than half of the guardsman's training hours each year. And whether he attends camps depends on the businessman, his employer.

The businessman stands to lose most in case of disaster. So it seems reasonable to assume the employer will plan his peacetime schedule to allow a guardsman two weeks of summer training.

Is it an imposition on our business routine for a youngster to prepare himself for a job which may be the difference betwen our own life and death, or the difference between riot and order in the confusion of storm fire and flood?

Certainly not!

A one hundred per cent attendance at the summer guard camp would be a vote of confidence in national security.

RESTORED DRAFT

The restoration of the Selective Service System, and the accompanying powers of the President to use it, is a step which fits the times. As long as world conditions are so unsettled that the United States must face the possibility of need armed force at any moment, the means to keep that force prepared ought to be kept in the President's hands. When conditions settle down, when peace appears likely to prevail for a decade or two, then will be time enough to consider whether conscription ought to be abandoned, and to withdraw from the Chief Executive the authority to order the draft of manpower, call up militia and reserves, and commit military forces to foreign enterprises.

Although the draft authority was not quite permitted to lapse, the renewal of it has to be regarded as restoration rather than extension as far as Congress is concerned. Congress was quite prepared to clip the powers of the President and reduce Selective Service from a fact to a name. It certainly would have done so but for the timely intervention of the Korean Communists. And yet the Korean incident, which seems to have wrought great change, was not a surprise except in its timing; newspaper writers and radio commentators have been discussing the possibility of an invasion of South Korea for months.

The swift action on the draft act suggests that Congress is awake now. But it is not to the credit of the American people that Congress was permitted to get so sleepy prior to June 25.

RED SPORTS STORIES

Subscribers to the Berlin Communist newspaper will henceforth have to take their sports news with more than a grain of salt. The sports staff of the paper has resigned because of orders to write sports stories from the proper political viewpoint.

Just how far this order extends is not clear. Does the paper merely play up the achievements of the party's favorite players, or does it lie out and out about them? Communists do either willingly, according to order. Translated into American terms, when Joe DiMaggio gets a home run, will that be reported as a strikeout simply because Joe is not a communist?

Many Americans may shrug cynically if they detect faulty reporting of other news, but would be up in arms over mishandling of sports events. If the Berliners feel as strongly, the Communist leaders may have unwittingly dealt a serious blow to party morale.

War Situation Spurs Appeals On Bond Sales

An urgent appeal for Navarro county citizens as well as those of Texas and the nation for the purchase of Savings bonds to complete the Independence campaign by July 17 was received from Nathan Adams, chairman of the advisory committee of Texas, by Joe E. Butler, Navarro county chairman, Friday.

Adams said the government needed the money in view of the Korean situation, and pointed out that a successful conclusion would also be a fine propaganda weapon against our enemies.

Navarro county is ahead of the Texas average, according to the last report from the Federal Reserve bank, but Chairman Butler urges that the local citizenry join in a united effort to put the campaign over.

"Reverses of American troops in Korea make it all the more necessary for Texas to achieve its quota of $24,088,000 in the Independence Savings Bond drive. The Korean situation requires the American people to demonstrate their unity in the face of the grave crisis confronting us today," Adams telegraphed Butler.

All series E bonds purchased through July 17 will be credited to the Independence campaign.

"In view of the lagging sales, I urge you to call upon the people of your county by means of the newspapers and radio, to buy savings bonds now and thus deny our enemies a reason for propagandizing against us. The hour is late, but there is yet time enough," the telegram concluded.

Reservations fo the July 20 affair should be turned in to Clicque by not later than July 17.

Korean Division engaged elements of a South Korean corps on a front just south of the city, the communique reported.

MacArthur said enemy pressure gained soms ground in the Umsong-Chungju area, some 70 miles northeast of Chonan. Units of the 15th North Korean Division there forced back Southern Republican troops to high ground northwest of Umsong, he said.

Just south of Chungju, major city in the Umsong fighting area, an enemy battalion with other forces opposed South Korean troops, MacArthur's communique said.

The United Nations commander said increased activities on the East Coast still indicated southward pressure with opposition from friendly forces (likely Allied naval and air.)

MacArthur said there was evidence the morale of the North Korean Communists was slipping under the heavy pressure applied by Allied warplanes which Sunday began around the clock attacks on them.

Some 46 enemy tanks, trapped on a highway near Chonan, were knocked out by the low flying planes Sunday, front line dispatches said.

MacArthur said light bombers from the Fifth Air Force performed close support and bombed troops, vehicles, tanks and trucks with reported good results. Fighters, he said, reported many tanks, trucks, railroad rolling stock and vehicles destroyed.

Napalm, the fire bomb, was used with reported excellent results, the General's communique said. Napalm is a secret, soap-like mixture that splatters flaming gasoline when the bomb bursts.

Stung by Allied air blows, the Communist radio ordered nightly blackouts in Seoul.

MacArthur said the North Koreans, who raced down the peninsula against the feeble opposition for two weeks, were having communications troubles since Sunday's relentless air blows.

The "lost" battalion was cut off in an all night battle July 8-9 near Chonan, about 50 miles south of the Red held Republican capital of Seoul.

To get back it slugged its way through an enemy force that outnumbered it 10 to 1 in men and armament.

MacArthur parised it for its "bold and most successful holding, delaying and rearguard action." The unit was not identified. It is now in good shape, the United Nations commander said.

The tough Americans cut their way through the North Korean First Division to get out.

The battalion had been in a forward position during the battle when it was encircled by the Communists.

There was no mention in MacArthur's communique of the battalion's losses. He did not explain its "bold operation."

In their unopposed sweep over the Asian peninsula, the Far East Air Force reported, American fighters and light bombers destroyed 33 tanks, 69 trucks, one locomotive, nine boxcars, two half-tracks, five jeeps and two large guns. The planes also damaged 13 tanks, 49 trucks and one locomotive.

They strafed or hit with rockets a large number of other vehicles, many in convoys, and inflicted "numerous casualties" among North Korean ground troops around Chonan.

The air force said the "marked success" of the 24-hour bombing was attributed to new air-ground liasion tactics which permit pinpoint attacks.

While fighters and bombers took their toll around Chonan, B-29 Superforts were busy elsewhere. They knocked out two bridges and scored a hit on a third.

Two fighter planes were damaged, one by ground fire and the other by a ground explosion, but both returned safely to their base. Two damaged fighters went down at sea but the pilots were saved.

Sunday's tank total can be added to an impressive collection of Communist armor previously destroyed or damaged. Various communiques have listed kills totaling 132 tanks—including 123 by warplanes.

It appeared this No. 1 Communist weapon had been hit hard.

itary spending will have to go up to fight the war in Korea.

The White House conference was attended by the congressional democratic "Big Four"—Rayburn, Vice President Barkley, Senate Leader Lucas (Ill.) and House Leader McCormick (Mass).

Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, was called in and gave them a general summary of the Korean situation.

Lucas told reporters: "We didn't learn anything except what is in the newspapers."

He said there was no discussion of whether congress should stay in session until the military problem in Korea is clarified.

As far as we know," Lucas added, "we are stil headed for adjournment on July 31, but with the qualification that if the Korean situation becomes critical we will stay on."

Byrd told reporters he sees no reason why some more fat can't be trimmed off domestic activities in the $34,700,000,000 single-package money bill the senate starts debating tomorrow.

"Purely domestic expenditures have been increased 77 per cent since 1948," Byrd said. "With a war on our hands, some of these outlays must be cut or we are going to spend ourselves into the kind of bankruptcy the Russians are counting on."

Byrd was promised help in his economy drive by a group of Republicans who backed a personnel and travel-trimming amendment rejected Saturday by the senate appropriations committee when it approved the huge money bill. The amendment would not affect military outlays.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), who has said he would be willing to support any necessary increase in military funds if that will bring a decisive victory in Korea, called also for economes in non-military spending.

Taft told a reporter he thnks the Korean fighting will make it more difficult than it appeared previously for congress to cut excise taxes about $1,000,000,000, as proposed in a house-approved bill on which the senate finance committee resumes hearings today.

MOBILE UNITS

Airborne at Ft. Campbell, Ky.; the 2nd Armored at Ft. Hood, Tex.; the 3rd Infantry at Ft. Benning, Ga.

An announcement issued simultaneously Sunday at Washington and San Francisco said that "the 2nd Infntry division and two units of anti-aircraft artillery have been alerted for movement in the near future to the Far East command."

It said that several supporting units from the 6th Army area (with headquarters at San Francisco and under which the 2nd Division also comes) also had been put on notice. And it added that similar alerts had been issued to "several" combat units in the 2nd Army (Baltimore); 3rd (Atlanta) and 4th (San Antonio, Tex).

A marine division has been waiting for several days for ships to be assembled to take the division and its marine air unit to the Far East.

Military chiefs had nothing to say about how much help General MacArthur may have requested or how much the strategy-making joint chiefs of staff here believed he should get. MacArthur started out the Korean campaign with elements of one division. That and whatever he has committed to battle since is drawn from the four divisions of his Far East command.

The defense force of Japan must be kept up, it is pointed out at the Pentagon, because the danger of attack on that country continues to exis.

On top of this situation, there is the continuing possibility of a sudden Communist move in Europe. There the United States has only a single division, plus a substantial-sized constabulary force trained for combat A sudden crisis there would mean that the mobile force might have to send aid to Europe as well as the Far East.

There was speculation that the federal government would be reluctant, at least at the outset, to call in only cerain National Guard division to replace divisions drawn from the mobile force. In some quarters there was belief that the government, should the time come, would federalize the whole National Guard instead of risking arguments over discrimination by calling in some divisions while others remained under state control.

This was the method used just before World War II. A joint resolution of congress, approved August 27, 1940, ordered the National Guard into active federal military service for 12 months. This was extended as the danger of war grew closer, and the Guard remained federalized until after the conflict had ended.

Today there are 27 National Guard divisions, over 90 per cent of them at organized strength. This means that each division has the required number of units such as rifle organizations, anti-aircraft outfits, medical units—but does not mean the divisions are at wartime strength. They, like the regular army, would have to build up manpower if called into active service.

losing them to Nazis or Communists.

Not mentioned on today's program by Kraft but prominent in refugee speeches in West Germany were demands for return of German territories given to Poland by Russia. The refugees are particularly bitter and anti-Communist on the point of lost territories.

The new group cut deeply into the strength of the established political parties. The left wing Social Democratic party, which has governed Schleswig-Holstein for several years, lost its parliamentary majority. It received less than one-third of the vote.

A right wing bloc—the Christian Democrats, Free Democrats and the German Party—won first place by pooling their strength behind the same candidates in each of the 46 electoral districts.

The combine is similar to the right wing coalition federal government at Bohn, and opposes the state's present Socialist planned economy.

Final official tabulation gave this division of the legislative seats: Right wing bloc, 31; Social Democrats, 18; Refugees, 16; South Schleswig Voters Union, four.

money with which it could pay the tax."

Russell B. Brown, speaking for the Inidependent Petroleum Association of America, testified "the practical effect of this proposed change in the tax law would be an immediate and drastic curtailment in leasing and exploratory activities. This would mean fewer new oil fields found, less reserves of oil and less productive capacity."

James J. Cosgrove of Ponca City, Okla., speaking for the American Petroleum Institute, said if the house bill proposal becomes law, many oil industry members "would no doubt be forced to consider the advisability of selling their properties, in order to realize capital gains against which to offset their losses, since abandonment losse are inevitable in the exploration and development of new sources of oil."

beans, pickles, bread and cake.

The Scouts who visited Corsicana were from Washington and Idaho and they were returning from the Jamboree at Valley Forge.

J. H. Hagood, Yakima, Wash., leader of the group, said the gang left Spokane, Wash., June 19 and would disband at Spokane on July 14.

Their trip took them through the following places:

Glacier Park, Minneapolis, Minn., Chicago, Niagara Falls, Detroit, New York, Valley Forge, Washington, D. C., Cincinnati, and Houston.

From Corsicana they'll go through Dallas, Pueblo, Colo., and Salt Lake, Utah on their way home.

The Scouts who came to Corsicana Monday were comprised of 10 troops representing five Scout councils. While at the Jamboree, part of them camped with Texas Scouts.

The 12-car train, which included two baggage cars, arrived about 20 minutes late, but the Scouts were assured they'd have two hours in Corsicana.

After unloading from the train, the crowd moved down Highway 75 to the oil mill. Texas Highway Patrolmen Henry Tucker and Jack Gaines, as well as City Policeman Frank Chapman directed traffic as the Scouts marched down the busy highway.

The barbecue dinners and tours of inspection were planned by the Goodwill and Convention committee of the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce. Glen Thompson is the chairman of the committee.

Assisting in greeting and serving Monday were the following:

Bob Reading, Joe Tatum, H. M. Montgomery, A. H. Bonner, Frank Dickson, Homer Harris, George Callaway, Jim Bonner, Clifton Fread, R. W. Knight, R. C. Harkins, Ralph Brown, L. A. Vaughan, Tom Eady, Festus A. Pierce, and Andy Hinman.

One Scoutmaster reported that so far, only two Scouts really have been lost on the trip. These two wandered away from the train stop. They beat the train to the stop and were waiting when the train pulled in.

Others missed the train, he added, at Detroit and Cincinnati, but he explained it wasnt' their fault. All of them caught up with the train the same day they were lost, he said.

Monday's event was just a warmup. Better than 750 Scouts will be in Corsicana Tuesday for a repeat of Monday's progrm.

will shortly make itself felt "in no unmistakable terms."

Three groups of B-29 bombers are here or are on the way. Stratemeyer said Marine forces, enroute are bringing their own air power, adding:

"I will use all F-51 (Mustang fighters) and F-80s (jet fighters) I can get."

He said the speedy jet fighters had proved their value in battle and had accomplished every type of assigned mission, including close support for ground troops.

Stratemeyer said allied aircraft had inclicted "unknown but considerable losses" on North Korean ground troops. He strongly denied reports that jet planes were too speedy for such action.

"The jet," he said, "has performed magnificently. We have been able to perform all missions with the jets that we have been called upon to do, including close support of groundl forces."

His recapitulation of losses showed 10 F-80 Shooting star jets, eight B-26 light bombers, and two F-82 twin Mustangs lost. No B-29s of F-51 single Mustangs had been lost until 11 a. m. Monday (7 p. m. CST Sunday) he said.

His men had not found many North Korean planes on the airfields and he did not know where they had gone. He credited his fliers with shooting down 17 of them in combat.

He explained the North Korean rush to the south.

"Our opponent was well-organized, well equipped and wel-directed and it is my opinion that everything he has done to date showed he planned to overrun South Korea right to and including Pusan (on the southern tip of the Asian peninsula.)

"But the great effort of our ground forces, and Navy and Far East Air Forces has stopped him."

American forces, he said, have started airfields in South Korea to reduce the distance required for combat missions.

Stratemeper said pointedly that he has no confirmed reports that Soviet airmen have been flying North Korean planes.

"The North Korean pilots, he said, "have been good and brave—they will fight a dogfight with the result that some 17 or them have been shot down."

He said Navy planes and his own B-29s had searched for the Northern air force the past few days. He said the first Communist twin-engine bomber appeared in action a few days ago.

RE-ELECT

Charles T. Banister

COUNTY ATTORNEY

To The Voters Of Navarro County:

I respectfully solicit your vote for re-election as County Attorney on the basis of the record which I have made since January 1, 1947 (3 1-2 years.)

In ten bitterly contested murder prosecutions, the results have been: one acquittal, one suspended sentence, two hung juries, and six terms in the penitentiary. Two of these cases were old, one dating back to 1944, the other back to the latter part of 1942. Penitentiary terms were obtained in both.

In two of ten contested County Court prosecutions, Navarro County records were broken for severity of penalty: a $300.00 fine and ten days in jail were assessed against a drunk driver; a bootlegger received a $1.000.00 fine and a year in jail. Experienced criminal lawyers represented both these Defendants. One hundred forty-five more pleas of guilty in the County Court have been obtained during the past 3 1-2 years than were had during the preceding 8 years.

Your County Attorney must be experienced in order to cope successfully with the criminal lawyers representing the Defendants. My opponent, a splendid young man, has been a lawyer one year and has not tried a contested case, civil or criminal, in either the County or District Court.

I attempted to qualify myself for a successful career by starting at the bottom, not at the top. After three years as a lawyer, I ran for and was elected City Attorney of Corsicana in 1931. I was re-elected for three terms. Promotion to the County Attorney's office was denied me in 1934 and in 1936, but was granted in 1938. I was re-elected in 1940. World War II interrupted my career and I resigned in 1942 after volunteering in the Navy, where I served 3 years 2 months. Trial experience before the war has helped me to deliver above-average results during the past 3 1-2 years.

THE SWORN DUTY OF A COUNTY ATTORNEY IS TO PROSECUTE ALL PERSONS CHARGED WITH CRIME. THIS I HAVE DONE WITHOUT ANIMOSITY, FEAR OR FAVOR.

As a prosecutor who has honestly done his duty, even in highly controversial cases where public opinion was divided, I ask for your vote of confidence and approval Saturday, July 22.

Respectfully yours,
CHARLES T. BANISTER.

A&M Senior Is Fatally Stabbed

SAN ANTONIO, July 10.—(AP)—Sheriff Owen Kilday today was questioning an 18-year-old youth in the knife slaying of a Texas A. and M. College senior at a Von Ormy Night club Sunday night.

Jack Solether, 23, of Weslaco, on duty at the ROTS summer camp at Kelly Air Force base, was found dead on arrival at a hospital here early today. He had been stabbed seven times.

Six hours after the cadet was brought to the hospital, deputy sheriffs Tony Morin and Jack Woward arrested the 18-year-old suspect at a room at the YMCA here. They found bloody clothing and a six-inch knife in a sheath, they said.

Sloether was brought to the hospital by four San Antonio youths. They told the officers they had found him on the side of a road two miles west of Von Ormy. However, under questioning the officers said the youths admitted they had picked up the cadet in the parking lot of the night club.

The owner of the club, the deputies said, told them an altercation had taken place outside the building shortly before midnight last night.

'The Drunkard' Staggers Along In 18th Season

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, July 10—(AP)—This week in 1933:

And a hardy group of players opened an aged melodrama called "The Drunkard" at a neighborhood theater in Los Angeles.

"The Drunkard" has staggered into its 18th year of continual playing. The old boy is as creaky as ever, but there seems to be no end to his raucous drinking.

"The Drunkard" was an old preachment against gin which had been presented by P. T. Barnum. It was resurrected and played strictly for laughs before a beer-guzzling and sandwich-munching audience. The actors expected to get two months' work out of it, or three at the most.

Audiences Still Hiss

But audiences are still hissing and cheering and have consumed a reservoir-full of beer and enough sandwiches to reach from here to Juneau, Alaska. The show has broken all the long-run records in the history of the American theater.

One of the show's veterans is Jan Duggan, who almost every night for the past 17 years has played the heroine's mother in the play and the "Bowery Nightingale" in the after-show. You may remember her in W. C. Fields pictures. Few can forget her slightly misty gowns and her magnificently rusty voice.

I asked her how she could stand doing the same thing nightly for 17 years.

"It's fun," she laughed. "You can't take it seriously. The audience is the toughest in the world; sometimes you have to shout to be heard. But it's a challenge to make them quiet down and listen."

Sometimes the actors try to throw each other off by making faces while their backs are to the footlights. Jan Duggan has a ready answer when this is done to her. She crosses her eyes and the culprit usually breaks up.

Plays by Instinct

She plays her part now by habit and instinct.

"It is murder to remember your lines," she said. "Unless you concentrate hard, they will leave you and you find yourself in a trance on the stage."

This happened one night when she was thinking about the Red Cross instead of the play. She spoke an entirely different line and the rest of the troupe was thrown into panic. The curtain rang down in the middle of the scene, but I suspect the audience never knew the difference.

Part of the show's success seems to be that the players enjoy themselve as much as the audience. This spirit goes on backstage as well. The actors carry on a revolving bridge game during the performance, each participant leaving when he hears his cue over the loud-speaker. He is replaced by someone who is not due onstage. There is also a television set for the kibitzers.

"Heaven for Ham"

Miss Duggan was visiting from her Dallas home when she joined "The Drunkard" and now she thinks maybe she's here to stay.

"It's no job for a Helen Hayes," she admitted. "A real actor would go crazy doing the same thing every night for 17 years. But for an old ham like myself, it's heaven."

Farm Talk—

"Weed-Killer" Doing Much Damage To Cotton In Some Parts Of County

By CLYDE JOHNSON
Daily Sun Staff.

An alarming situation—the mysterious "weed killer" destruction of cotton—has struck Navarro county farmers.

"And we don't know where the stuff is coming from," says County Agent W. H. Walker, who termed the matter serious.

More than a half dozen cotton fields have shown the presence of weed-killer chemicals, such as 2-4-D; and the effect on cotton is worse than on weeds, Walker said.

"Cotton is very susceptible to weed-killer," the county agent reported. "It produces an abnormal rapid growth, tearing down the cell tissue."

Walker urged all persons who are using the chemicals to be exceedingly careful and to learn the necessary precautions.

The theory advanced was that persons killing weeds this time of year are applying the poison too liberally, that the lighter-than-air sprays have "drifted" into cotton fields.

One farmer reported that his wife, using only a half pint of weed killer around the house, damaged cotton plants some 150 yards away.

Calvin Franklin and M. J. Crawford, both of the Kerens vicitity, reported that weed-killer spray had drifted into five of their cotton fields.

Precautions to be taken in applying weed-killer may be had by contacting the county agent's office.

"An inexperiencev person should not use it this time of year," Walker advised.

Fleahoppers are on the hop in cotton fields, probably because of the recent showers. As for the boll weevil, the county shows a 28 per cent infestation in untreated fields, while treated fields reveal only 2 per cent punctured squares.

The critical period for development of bollworm infestations is about here, reports the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. About the first county farmer to report presence of this parasite was Robert Jones of Dawson.

The vetch seed harvest is reported poor in this area—considerably less than was anticipated a month or so ago. Yields are ranging from 50 to 200 pounds per acre, and a lot of bad seed is noted.

Agricultural workers will not hold their annual Magnolia Lake picnic Thursday night, so that members can attend the SCS picnic at Lewis David's farm. The workers will stage their recreational meeting July 20 at 7:30 p. m., Secretary Bob Clicque has announced.

Saturday was a double anniversary for J. N. Garitty, vice president and trust officer of the First national Bank. Forty years ago on his birthday, he started working at the First National Bank in Corsicana.

Garitty started as a collector in 1910, worked as a stenographer, and later was made transient clerk. From then on he advanced with the bank. He's been on the bank's board of directors for more than 25 years, being elected in March, 1925. He was elected vice president in 1929.

He recalled the resources of the bank on June 30, 1910, were $1,106,999.92. Forty years later they were $14,845,755.37.

Recently Married Couple Honored At Park Shower

A miscellaneous shower for Mr. and Mrs. Wendall Cummings, who were recently married, was given Friday evening at City Park. Hostess groups for the occasion were the Eleventh Avenue Methodist Woman's Society of Christian Service and the Frances Burns Class of the church school.

A feature of the evening, directed by Miss Ann Shrader, was a mock wedding. She anounced that since the ceremony July 1 had been held in the presence of only members of the family, that the mock wedding would attempt to recreate the nuptial scene for other friends.

Bridal Party

Doyle McAlester assumed the role of the bride, wearing an aqua evening gown, a veil of illusion caught to a halo of daisies and other dainty accessories, and carrying a bridal bouquet of cannas.

Miss Madge Worsham was bridegroom, and Miss Gloria Nell Keathley was the bride's father. The bridegroom wore a cowboy hat with his formal evening jacket.

Miss Peggy Copeland, playing the bride's mother, was dressed in a black ensemble and wept bitter and funereal tears.

James Wilson appeared as the bride's attendant, wearing a pink dotted swiss frock. The flower girl, Coy McNeil, wore aqua sharkskin and scattered petals in the path of the bridal principals. Miss Dorena Hayes was best man.

Miss Jeannine Copeland furnished the wedding music and mournfully ushered. Miss Ernestine Jones in a choir vestment served as the officiating minister.

Gifts Presented

Following the entertainment feature cold melon was served and the shower gifts presented. A swan vase filled with daisies and placed on a navy blue runner provided floral charm. The bride's colors of navy and white were observed in the appointments.

Personalized scalloped, white napkins were lettered in navy blue with the names of the newlyweds. Navy blue hearts, lettered July 1, 1950, and tied with tiny white ribbons were embedded in the melon slices.

Forty-seven members of the two groups attended. The guest list included mothers of the couple, Mmes. W. W. Lord and Ethel Cummings, and the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Minnie Murrell.

One of the special gifts presented to the young couple was a rolling pin, autographed by the guests, which is to be shellacked. The Rev. W. C. Taylor in presenting the gift pointed out that such a unique gift had been presented to him and Mrs. Taylor 21 years ago and that it had been singularly appreciated.

The bride was Miss Bobbie Lord before her recent marriage at the Eleventh Avenue parsonage. Mr. and Mrs. Cummings are at home at 1001 W. Tenth avenue. Both are members of the Frances Burns class.
